Passage 3

An accountant answered an advertisement for a job with a large company. At the end of the interview, the chairman said, “One last question—what is three times seven?” The accountant thought for a minute and replied, “Twenty-two.”

Outside he took his calculator and realized that he should have said twenty-one. He concluded that he had lost the job. Two weeks later, however, he was offered the post.

After a few weeks, he asked the chairman why he had been chosen when he had given the wrong answer.

“You were the closest,” the chairman replied.

Passage 4

The Great Sphinx of Giza in Egypt is a 20.22-meter tall stone figure of a lion with the head of a human. The structure of the Sphinx is cut entirely out of rock. Some people believe that there is a hidden area inside which people can enter, but no one has yet found a way to get in. Many stories have been told about the Great Sphinx as if it were a living creature and had the human qualities of being strong and wise.

Passage 4

There is one story about a young man who fell asleep next to the Great Sphinx. The man had gone hunting that day and he was tired. As he slept, the man dreamt that he would become the King of Egypt if he cleared away the desert sand that was partially covering the Sphinx.

But the story oddly had no ending. What do you think happened? Did the boy clean the sand away from the Sphinx? Did he become King of Egypt? No one seems to know.
